

Information on Forklift Load Protectors

A forklift truck load protector is an add-on to the fork extension and is meant to reduce costly scratching, chipping, marring and scuffing that the steel forks may cause to the extension. It does this by providing a non-slip surface between the extension and the fork. It fits right over the standard lift fork with mounting hardware. The raw material used for the protector is premium polyurethane.