

Information on Self-Dumping Hoppers

A self-dumping hopper is attached to the forklift with a locking chain. A hopper is capable of automatically dumping, as soon as the bumper releases the side of the dumpster. After dumping, the hopper will automatically return to an upright position. A self-dumping hopper can also operate manually with help of a cable that the operator can manipulate from the seat of their forklift.